

Nowovens Training Course to Return to India

Posted on July 15, 2010 @ 08:55 am

INDA in association with India-based TecniTex Nonwovens, Ltd. and Texas Tech University will offer its nonwovens training course in the textile city, Coimbatore, India August 12-13, 2010. INDA has been offering the training programs in India since 2007, which spearheaded the awareness of nonwovens in the country.

M. Mallyah, Executive Director of TecniTex Nonwovens is coordinating the event. Seshadri Ramkumar of Texas Tech University will tutor the course. INDA's brand recognition and its efforts in India are well recognized and hence the training program regularly attracts many entrepreneurs, R & D experts and policy makers, Dr. Ramkumar said.

More information: M. Mallyah, executive director, TecniTex Nonwovens, tecnitex.nonwovens@gmail.com.

